

MEET THE TEACHER

Hello! My name is Tiffany Johnson, and I am the 3 years old teacher at Play and Grow. I have a special education degree from East Carolina University. I taught in the public school system before becoming a teacher at Play and Grow.

In my classroom we have a new topic to learn about and explore every week. We have a letter of the week that I tie back to the topic we are currently discussing. We also cover a special number and shape in a weekly spotlight. Music is another thing I love to incorporate into my classroom. We have a weekly song that helps reinforce what we are learning in a fun way.

At Play and Grow, we believe students learn best with hands-on activities. I make sure our day is filled with fun and age appropriate learning games, as well as daily crafts/hands on learning opportunities.

My goal is to help students prepare for pre-k by building letter and number recognition skills, learning about the world around them, and by introducing skills needed to start building early reading skills. We work on name recognition and we strive to start building those motor skills needed to write. Most of all, I love to make learning fun!
